

Basic Life Support with Oxygen Therapy

This course can be adapted to suit a variety of audiences, from the complete novice to those who are skilled but feel their skills need updating. Audiences range from first aiders through to dentists, nurses and other healthcare professionals. The training normally takes place over three/four hours and includes the necessary theory followed by lots of practical “hands-on” practise to build confidence.

The syllabus includes:-

The Theory of Resuscitation

Incident Management

Basic Life Support

Recovery Position

Airway management - practical use of airway adjuncts and suction

Oxygen - safety, practical use and contra-indications

The training is in line with the Resuscitation Council (UK) Guidelines 2010 and can be adapted to suit the client in respects to what age group they may be resuscitating, be it babies, children or adults.
